With her album, All About Love, Debora Galán realizes the dream of sharing her original compositions. Aided by her producer, Emmy winning and Grammy nominated Allan Phillips, and a stellar team of musicians, she shares a compendium of smooth and tasteful Latin flavored jazz tunes, with lyrics in English and Spanish. The album single, "Arms of Love", and corresponding music video, are already grabbing attention from old and new fans and receiving airplay in the U.S. and abroad.

Born in Brussels, Belgium the bilingual Spanish songstress inherited her love of music from her grandfather and mother who both sang flamenco. Galán moved to the States in her early school years and began singing professionally in her teens. By the 1990's, she was living in Washington, D.C., performing with leading bands in Latin jazz and salsa clubs and opening for major Latin stars.

Since moving to San Diego area, the stunning vocalist has performed widely up and down the West Coast with occasional forays to Vegas. She regularly teams up with SOCAL's top jazz artists on diverse projects, making good use of her mastery of R & B, jazz and Latin styles. Galán has collaborated with major musical figures such as singer songwriter Steven Ybarra, pianist Greg Manning and Greek guitarist Vassilis "Blue" Sotiriou. (Stay tuned for news of an upcoming venture with Christian de Mesones). In her first album as a leader, she allows passion and optimism to infuse her appealing brand of world music. The CD is getting airplay in the U.S., Canada, U.K., Belgium, Spain, Italy, Sweden, South Africa, and Nigeria.
